“With Ocavo, my idea was to translate the power and tranquillity of the forest into a piece of furniture – authentic, pure and sensual. The grain, scent and texture of oak form the basis of a design that brings clarity and adds something special to everyday life.”

Christian Werner

Tradition

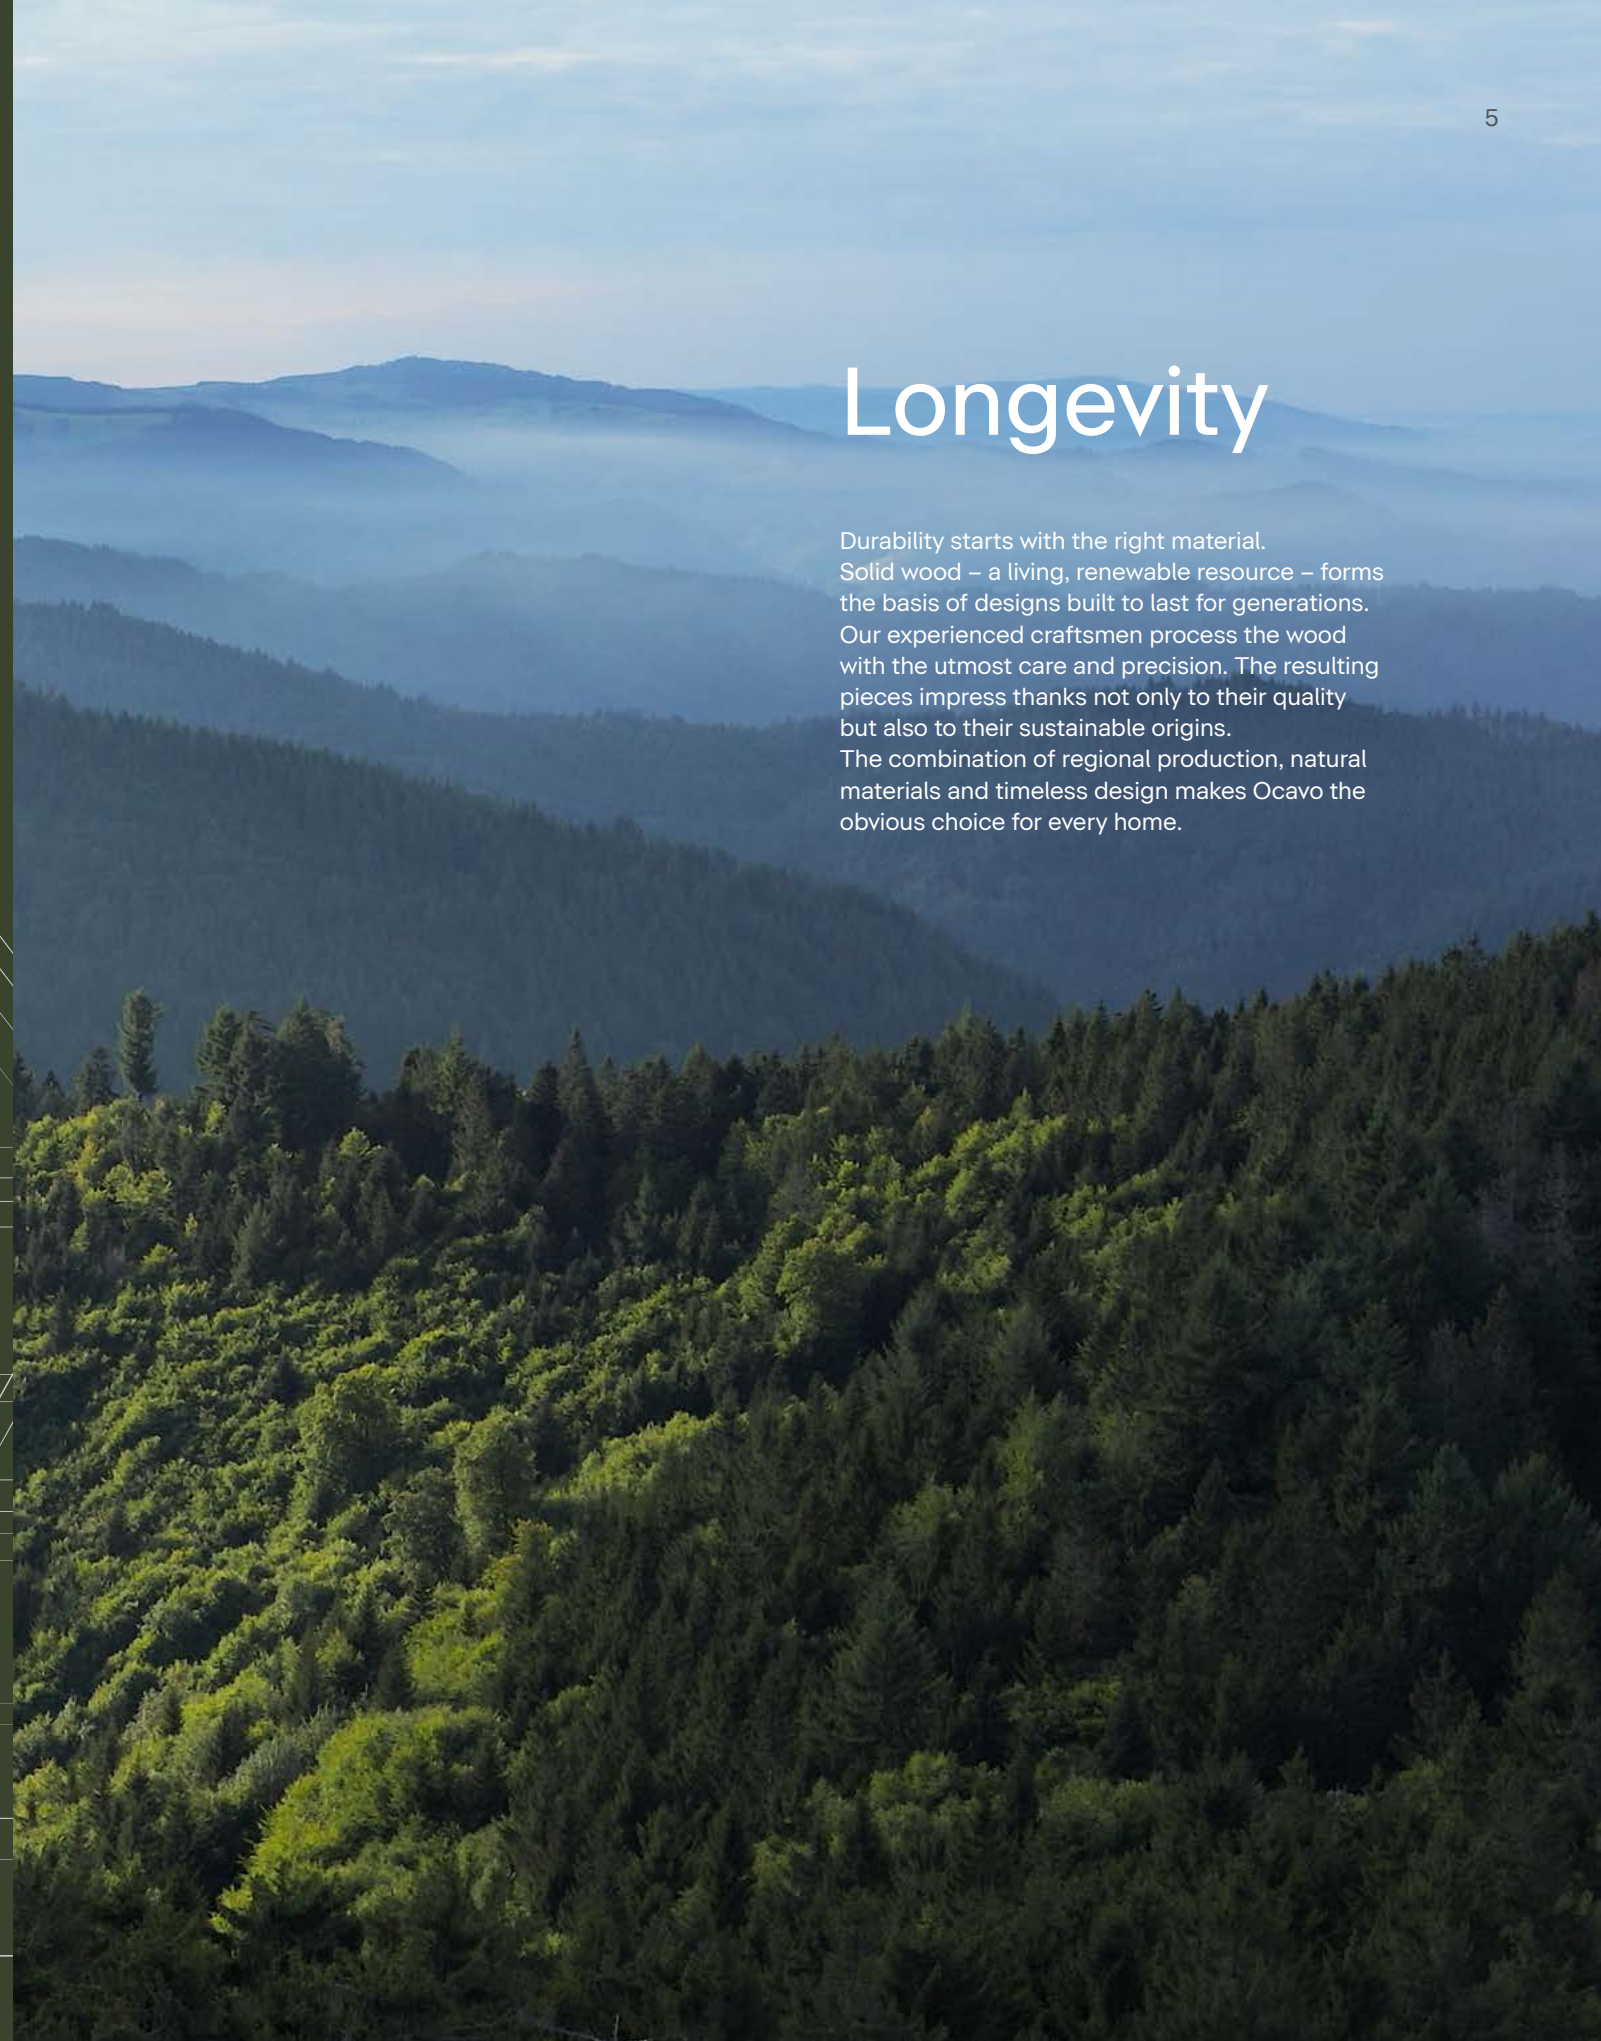

The Black Forest – a place full of life, history and mysterious beauty. Its deep forests, bright moss and the interplay of light and shadow through the treetops create a landscape that has fascinated people for centuries. Christian Werner, the designer of the Ocavo series, was inspired by this natural environment, too.

This connection to nature resulted in Ocavo: a bathroom furniture series that translates the tranquillity and strength of the forest into modern design and carries on the tradition of woodworking in every detail.

Longevity

Durability starts with the right material. Solid wood – a living, renewable resource – forms the basis of designs built to last for generations. Our experienced craftsmen process the wood with the utmost care and precision. The resulting pieces impress thanks not only to their quality but also to their sustainable origins. The combination of regional production, natural materials and timeless design makes Ocavo the obvious choice for every home.

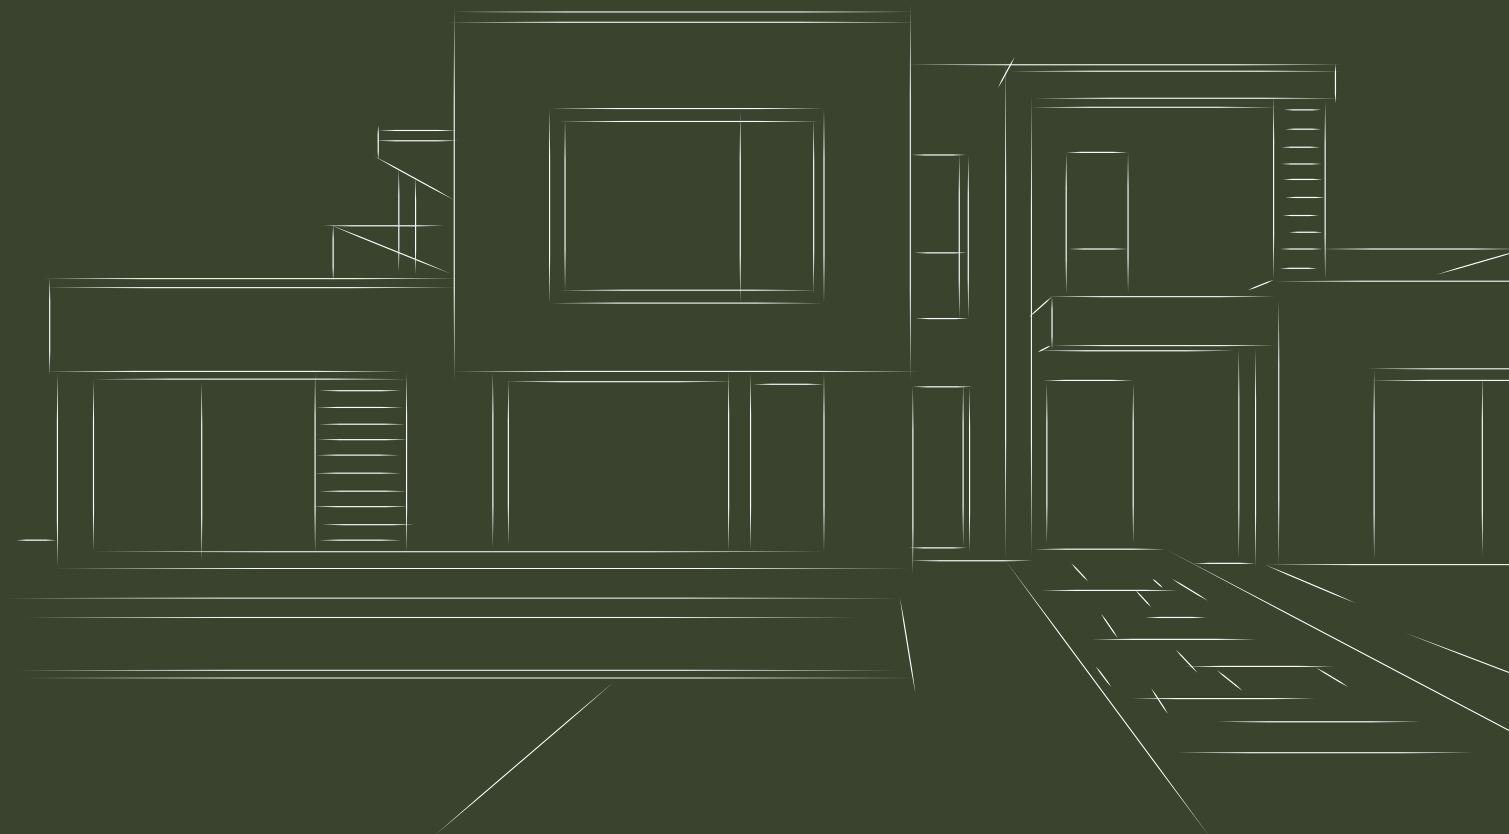

Craftsmanship

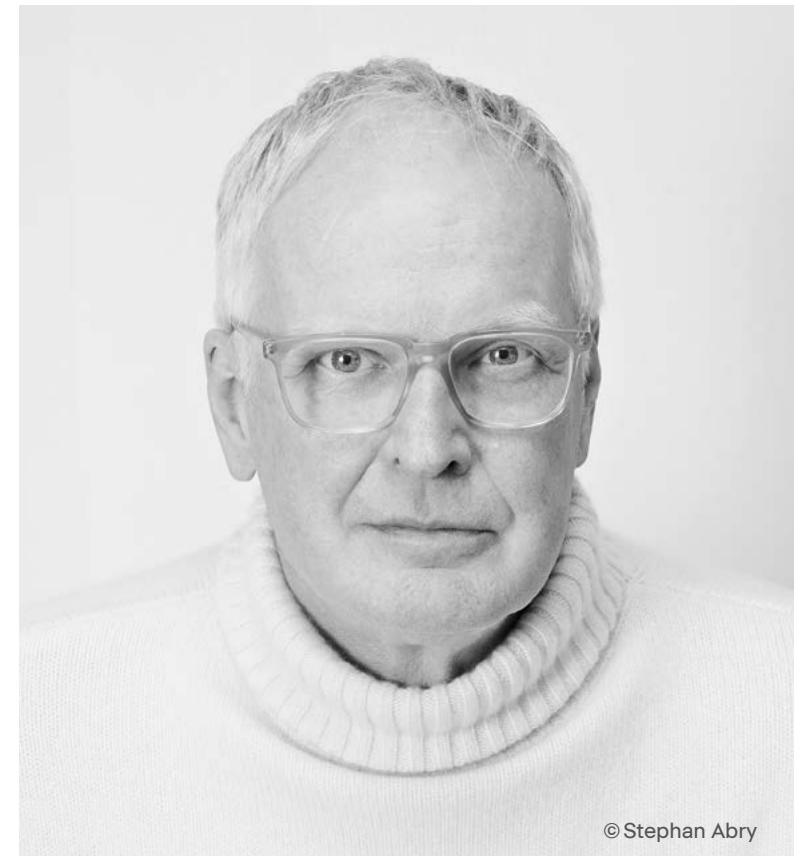

When experience meets passion, the result is always something special. At the PEFC-certified furniture factory (PEFC/04-31-2357) in the Black Forest, experienced craftsmen create each piece with a trained eye and a steady hand. Here, traditional woodworking is combined with modern technology and contemporary design. The people behind Ocavo are dedicated to every detail, from the first cut to the final finish. This is how craftsmanship is transformed into furniture that makes quality visible and tangible.

Modernity

Modern design doesn't need loud gestures. The furniture in the Ocavo series is reduced, authentic and deliberately natural – an expression of timeless aesthetics and a clear attitude. Christian Werner has translated the originality of the forest into a clear design language that eschews frills while still conveying depth. The traditional coffered structure has become the characteristic design framework that makes the three-dimensionality of solid-wood visible and tangible. Oak as a material creates a piece of furniture that is robust, water-resistant and stylish – made for a sophisticated life.

Solid wood. Pure design.

Wood in its most beautiful form – authentic, vibrant and full of character. For this bathroom furniture range, Christian Werner chose oak: a wood that has been valued for generations and impresses thanks to its stability and warm presence. The calm grain, subtle colour nuances and visible growth rings makes each piece of furniture unique. It is not designed but grown – and that's why it upgrades every home on a daily basis.

Features

Made for humid rooms

Designed for use in bathrooms: The carefully lacquered solid-wood surfaces provide reliable protection against moisture. The water-based topcoat preserves the natural beauty of oak – durable and ideal for the bathroom.

High-quality edge finishing

The edges are more than just a detail – they define the look and feel of the furniture. All Ocavo furniture is finished with the highest precision: bevelled, chamfered on both sides and perfectly integrated into the clear design language.

Solid-wood interior

Attention to detail is evident throughout, including the drawers, which are made entirely of solid-wood with classic finger joints and a precisely fitting siphon cut-out. The oak interior system adds a touch of natural elegance to the functionality, underlining the high standards of the materials and workmanship.

Soft closing

The drawers close softly and quietly with a light push thanks to soft-close technology. This ensures a calm and comfortable user experience.

c-shaped

A perfect fit, down to the last detail: thanks to c-shaped technology, the Vitrium washbasin fits into the corresponding base unit with millimetre precision. Its parallel shape allows it to merge seamlessly with the furniture to create a harmonious unit. This precise interplay demands the highest level of craftsmanship, creating a calm and coherent overall picture.

Natural Oak – lasting warmth

Nature meets everyday life:
Solid oak brings comfort and character into the bathroom.

Natural oak demonstrates how wood can create an atmosphere. Its surface radiates warmth, giving the room a feeling of calm and natural beauty. The grain, subtle colour nuances and visible growth rings reveal the wood's origin and authenticity – it is grown, not designed. Ocavo uses this quality to create rooms that benefit you every day.

The series offers a wide range of possibilities for personalised interior design, focussing on the powerful effect of natural materials.

Vitrium
DESIGN BY CHRISTIAN WERNER

Ocavo is a well-designed furniture range offering versatile solutions for modern bathroom design. The range includes vanity units that can be combined with either the ME by Starck ceramic washbasin or the velvety matt Vitrium mineral cast washbasin. The elegant console solution for countertop basins offers extra design flexibility.

The range is complemented by a semi-tall cabinet that offers both practical storage space and stylish accents. There are two door options, each with a different design effect. The solid-wood door provides an opaque storage solution and creates a calm, clear look. In contrast, the Parsol glass door introduces a new material, making the bathroom furniture appear lighter and more transparent.

The furniture range is complemented by mirrors with touch LEDs that also serve as night lights and illuminate the faucet, as well as models with solid-wood frames and integrated LED lighting. They provide uniform, atmospheric lighting and blend harmoniously into the overall design. The result is a bathroom that appears seamless in terms of materials, function and design.

Bright Oak – impactful clarity

Light oak wood adds a touch of modern authenticity and lightness into the bathroom.

The light oak has a modern and light appearance without losing any of its depth. Its surface is deliberately irregular, bearing traces of growth rather than manufacture. Ocavo prioritises authenticity and clarity over artificial perfection. The result is a minimalist, contemporary design that creates tranquil spaces to complement everyday life.

ME by Starck
DESIGN BY PHILIPPE STARCK

A mirror cabinet with a sensor switch rounds out the furniture range. Impressive not only for its high-quality solid-wood frame, it also offers additional storage space for your favourite care products. Its clever interior layout ensures that everything remains tidy and within easy reach.

Black Oak – impressive depth

Dark oak wood adds an air of elegance and sophistication to the bathroom.

Black Oak embodies modern restraint and a strong presence. The deep black oak appears elegant and calm, its fine grain discreetly receding into the background. When combined with a white washbasin, it creates an exciting contrast that adds visual grandeur even to small rooms. Ocavo shows how high-quality materials and thoughtful design can have an impact on everyday life. The dark surface gives the bathroom character and elevates it to a new level – a real upgrade for everyday.

Ocavo c-shaped

One of the special features of Ocavo furniture is the visible finger jointing. This traditional wooden joint represents maximum stability and precise craftsmanship. Not only does it ensure durable construction, it also gives the furniture an authentic, high-quality look that emphasises the design.

The combination of dark oak wood and the velvety matt mineral cast washbasin creates an exciting interplay of warmth and clarity. The natural depth of the wood meets the pleasantly silky surface of the washbasin, opening up new visual and haptic dimensions in the bathroom.

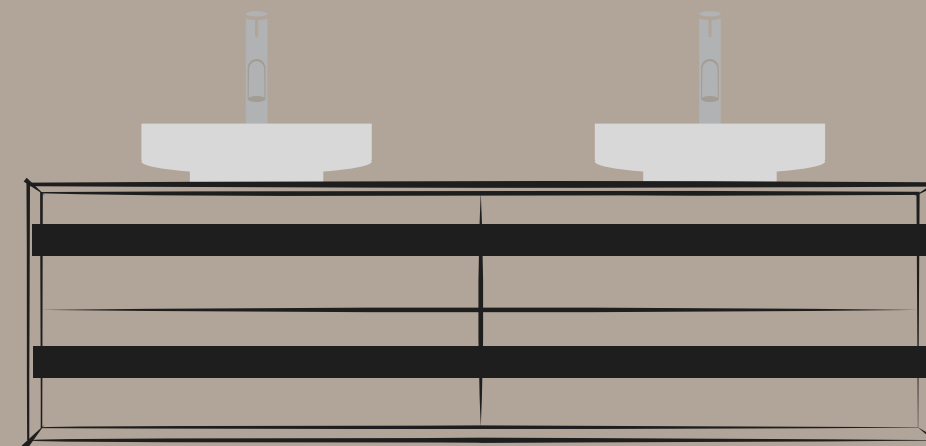

Ocavo's clear, minimalist design brings structure and tranquillity to any space. The three-dimensional body construction creates depth, while bevelled edges and a chamfered handle strip on both sides give it a subtle lightness.
